Their Education More Important—Watson's Failure to Come a Disappointment, But Place Filled

This Evening's Progra.

7:45—Prelude concert, Missouri Ladies' Military band.

8:30—Lecture, "The Girl Who Can," Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones.

Saturday's Program.

Morning:

10:00—Lecture and demonstration, Mrs. Jones.

Afternoon:

2:00—Entertainment by the Hiawatha Indians, a party of ten Ojibway Indians from Canada, who will tent on the grounds during their stay with us.

4:30—Concert by Ladies' band.

Evening:

8:00—Play, "Hiawatha," by Ojibway Indian company.

Thursday was another unfortunate day for the Chautauqua in that another of the principal speakers, Congressman James E. Watson, could not fill his place on the program. This again cut down the attendance of one of the big days. The total receipts are, however, in advance of the receipts at this time last year. Watson's place was filled by Dr. Woods, a minister from New Jersey, so that the program was not shortened. The rest of the day's program, the concerts by the Heron sisters and lecture by Rt. Rev. Fr. Nugent, was a success in itself.

Father Nugent's lecture on "The Home, School and Church, the Safeguards of the Nation," was strong enough to have been the day's feature in itself.

Constantly emphasizing the home, with the mother as its nucleus, Father Nugent, in simple, easy flowing English, delivered a lecture that was full of good things from beginning to end, telling of the dangers confronting this country and pointing toward their remedy.

He began by outlining the wonderful progress of the last fifty years, a progress that has eclipsed that of any other period of the world's history and has brought a prosperity to this country that cannot be estimated. This prosperity looms so large before us that we are devoting ourselves to it at the expense of the moral and intellectual welfare of the country, he continued. We cultivate everything but the mind. We do not bring up our children to care for anything but the material things of life. Here Father Nugent pointed out the difference between raising children and bringing up children. He said that we raise cattle, hogs and other live stock by feeding and sheltering them. The bringing up of children adds to their nourishment and shelter the training of the mind. The trouble with too many parents in this country is that they are not bringing up their children, but are simply raising them along with the cattle and hogs.

Passing on to the home life, the speaker said that this was a country of too many beautiful houses and too many poor homes. The cottages of this country are the saving grace of the nation, because there is happiness and a wholesome influence. A man must establish his home early in life, else, in seeing too much of the sordid outside world, he will become skeptical and afraid to build a home.

The mothers are the architects of the home, he continued. Womanhood is the coast defense of this nation. The mothers of our country are its gold reserve. They are to its life as the gold reserve at Washington is to the bonds and bank notes of the country. It is through the mother's teaching that the child can be saved from the materialistic view of life.

In regard to education, Father Nugent said that he thought the education of our girls was more important than that of the boys, for the mother

ONLY ONE NEW DIRECTOR.

George Moore Selected For Place on Chautauqua Board—Manager Landon Tendered Resignation.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Nodaway Chautauqua was held at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the big tent, and aside from a general discussion of plans for next year, three directors were elected to fill the places of the retiring directors. Judge W. C. Ellison, Prof. W. M. Oakerson and Nathaniel Sisson. Mr. Ellison and Mr. Oakerson were re-elected, and George Moore was elected to fill Mr. Sisson's place.

The discussion of plans for next year's Chautauqua was not in any way a final action. It was merely suggestive of how a still better program can be arranged, and took up the question of whether to continue hiring talent independently with an effort to get some men like Joe Cannon, Pinchot and LaFollette, or whether to buy a program from some bureau.

Manager P. O. Landon tendered his resignation as manager and stockholder in the Chautauqua to be acted on at the first meeting of the board of directors. Mr. Landon said, that in view of the fact that he had given so much of his time to the Chautauqua in the last few years and considering some plans for the future, he could under no consideration be connected with it next year. He also asked that an auditing committee be appointed to go over his books as soon as possible and make a public statement of the accounts, that the people in general might see where the expenses of a Chautauqua are. He estimates the cost of this year's Chautauqua close to $4,500.

A meeting of the board of directors was called for Tuesday night, August 19, in the office of Prof. Oakerson in the court house. At that meeting these various questions will be taken up, and the work of making out a program will begin as soon as possible that the best of talent may be obtained.

SPEAKS HIGHLY OF THE NORMAL.

The Harrison county students who have been attending the summer term of the Normal school here are speaking highly of the institution and of the Normal faculty and President Richardson. The following is what these students had to say in this week's Bethany Clipper:

Fearing that the people of Harrison county do not realize what a great school they have at Maryville, Mo., we teachers of Harrison county, who have been attending the Northwest Normal this summer, wish to thank the people of Harrison county for supporting such an institution, which makes it possible for all teachers who need training to have a school of their own near their own home to do this work.

We teachers realize that we are improving an opportunity which many of the Harrison county teachers are not taking advantage of, and we think if they had met President Richardson and his excellent faculty and was acquainted with the work they are doing, they would certainly become a member of the Harrison county delegation at the Northwest Normal in the near future.

The enrollment this summer was 515, and as a body of teachers we think, considering the age of our Normal, it ranks as one of the best in the state.

We have succeeded in building up a strong county organization, which, by their efforts, have let the people of Maryville and of other counties know that Harrison county is on the map. Now it is hoped that this enthusiasm will be carried into our county teachers' association this fall, and by our efforts all teachers of Harrison county will attend school at the Northwest Normal at Maryville.

Free Ice Water and Drinking Cups.

People who have experienced the inconvenience occasioned by neglect of railroad companies to provide drinking cups in station waiting rooms will be interested in Senator Wilson's bill, which was enacted into a law by the recent legislature. It provides that all depots and trains shall be kept supplied with ice water and sanitary drinking cups. The fact that heretofore there had been no law on this subject led to widespread neglect in this matter with resulting inconvenience to the travelers, especially during months when the weather was warm.

A NARROW ESCAPE

MR. AND MRS. S. H. KEMP JUMPED FROM CAR IN TIME.

AUTOMOBILE A WRECK

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Kemp jumped from their motor car this morning just in time to escape being struck and possibly killed by a freight train at the Seventh street crossing of the Wabash freight yards. The car was hit squarely in the center as the train backed against it and pushed it 100 feet or more, broken and twisted to pieces.

Mr. Kemp was taking Mrs. Kemp to the Chautauqua to attend the morning lecture by Mrs. Jones. As they approached the railroad crossing Mr. Kemp noticed a long line of freight cars on the track north of the crossing, but he saw no engine, and thought that the cars were standing there alone. The motor car was on the short abrupt grade leading to the crossing when Mrs. Kemp saw that the freight cars were moving toward them and were not more than forty feet away. She called to her husband and jumped from the car. He was in the act of changing gears, but seeing that he could not get the car across the tracks in time to escape being struck by the train, he jumped to save himself. The brakeman did not see the car until too late to have the train stopped. Consequently the car was hit and pushed 100 feet along the track before the train was stopped.

The car is a total wreck. Mr. Kemp had it insured, but he does not know whether his policy covers such an accident.

To this union seven children were born, six of whom survive her. They are Roselle Belle Teson, Skidmore; Jasper L. Meadow Grove, Neb.; Harvey M., James R. and Charlie E., of Skidmore, and Bertha M. Osborn of Madison, Neb.

TWO CENTS ON MAPLE LEAF.

Great Western Official Told Guilford Men the Railroad Would Adopt the New Rate.

L. L. Joden, division freight agent of the Chicago, Great Western railroad, stationed at Des Moines, was in Guilford Wednesday. While there he told the agent and business men of the town that his company was planning to put in the 2-cent passenger rate at an early date. Up to the present time the Chicago Great Western road has been charging the old rate, for under the law it is exempt from the 2-cent rate, because it has less than 100 miles of its own trackage in the state. The company is adopting the new rate to meet the competition of the other roads.

DAM ACROSS OLD CHANNEL.

One is Nearly Completed On the Nodaway River at Burlington Junction So Water Will Go in Ditch.

A meeting of the drainage board of the Nodaway drainage ditch was held at the Walker farm, near Burlington Junction this week, and it was decided to go ahead with the damming of the old channel of the Nodaway river. Ten men were put to work on the dam at the north end of the Walker farm and the structure is nearly completed. The dam was built with dirt and brush and the structure is held securely to the bed of the river by long stakes. Heavy sacks of sand are also being used to reinforce the dam. Another dam will be built near the Blackford farm, near Clearmont.

The damming of the old channel is so as to turn the water in the new drainage ditch.

ROAD BONDS CARRY WITH MANY VOTES TO SPARE.

TO ISSUE ONLY A PART

Bonds Will Be Sold Through County Court and Work Will Be Started as Soon as Possible.

The good roads bond issue of $50,000 for Polk township carried at a special election held Thursday by 45 votes over the necessary two-thirds majority, and it was the second election held on this proposition. The vote for the issue was 921 for to 394 against, making a total vote of 1,315, which is a big vote at a special election. The vote at the last good roads election, held in December was 959, 615 being for the issue and 344 against the issue. The proposition failed to carry at the first election.

The vote by precincts showed that the biggest vote for the proposition was in the Third ward or precinct B. In the Second ward, precinct C, and First ward, precinct D, the proposition also carried. The Fourth ward, or precinct A, lacked only two votes of having enough. The vote by precincts follows:

	For.	Against
Precinct A	282	144
Precinct B	233	63
Precinct C	195	85
Precinct D	211	102
Total	921	394

The township board is going to start work as soon as possible. They will sell the bonds through the county court and only a part of the bonds will be issued.

At the election Thursday a delegation from Union township, headed by C. G. McMillen, came to Maryville to stir up enthusiasm for the proposition. There were eight automobiles in the party. Union was the first township in the county to bond itself for good roads and she wanted to see her sister township, Polk, do likewise.

Much of the credit for the success of the bond issue carrying is the active work done by the Maryville Commercial club. The committee of that club in charge of the campaign was composed of Will F. Phares, Fred P. Robinson, J. F. Hull and Mayor Arthur S. Robey.

THEY ARE TO WORK ON ROADS.

Ravenwood and Jackson Township Changed the Good Roads Days to September 2 and 3.

On account of there being a number of threshing machines around Ravenwood, it was thought best to make the good roads days in Jackson township September 2 and 3, as at that time more could get out to work on the roads than on August 20 and 21, the dates selected by Governor Major and the county court of Nodaway county.

The Business Men's league of Ravenwood and the township board of Jackson township are making the arrangements for these days and all of the work to be done on the roads will be under the supervision of the board and road overseers. Up to this time thirty-five men in Ravenwood have promised to work on the roads.

A mass road meeting will be held on Tuesday, August 26, when more arrangements will be made for the good roads days.

SCHOOL DAYS

The day I graduated from the Maryville high school there were very, very many things in this hustling world of ours that I didn't know. When I was handed my diploma I wondered how this world had got along so well without me up to the present time, and told myself that from now on civilization would make great strides. I felt that it was unfortunate that I wasn't born during the revolution when this country was in such great need of leaders. I wondered what should become of the United States if something should happen if I should be run down in the street, or be hurt in a sudden accident. On the day I was graduated from high school I felt that I owed it to the great commonwealth of Missouri to take good care of myself so that Missouri could fast forge to the front.

Graduation night I delivered an oration in the Christian church that I confidently expected to go ringing down through the corridors of time. The next morning when I came downtown I expected to see groups of citizens on the corners discussing the oration and eagerly pointing to its author as I nonchalantly sauntered across the street. I wondered how long it would be before a popular subscription would be taken up by the citizens of Nodaway county to cast my deathless words in bronze and just where they would erect the statue to the brilliant young orator—the same being me—who had sent these words echoing down through the periods of the future.

However, the next morning when I came downtown things were quite different from what I had expected. It seemed that most of the citizens had heard the first paragraph of my immortal oration, but for some unaccountable reason had gone to sleep before I had launched into the deathless second paragraph. The same sleepiness had not only fastened upon one citizen, but the whole audience seemed to have been stricken by it. On questioning I found that the only people in the whole audience who had been thrilled through time and time again were my immediate relatives.

In a few short days my graduation masterpiece had died a justly deserved death.

From that day my knowledge has been going steadily backward. Each day I find out that I know just a little less than I thought I did. I don't know as much now as I did this time last year, and I know that my ignorance today is appalling in comparison to my knowledge two years ago today. In a few years more, if this cerebral shrinking process keeps up, I won't know enough to come in out of the proverbial precipitation.

When I got through the University at Columbia, Mo., I thought I would look around till I found some overworked editor of a New York newspaper and step into his shoes and make the paper howl. I looked around to find a newspaper that I should honor by accepting a place on it. When I was in the university I had figured that when I graduated I would start in at $100 a week and from that gradually work up until I was making a fair salary.

So I went into a newspaper office in New York to tell them that I had arrived and look over their line of jobs. My plan worked fine—until I got to the front door. There I found an office boy in uniform who would not let me into the office. I sent in word to the city editor telling him that an intellectual giant was waiting outside to converse with him, but the city editor did not have any hankering to meet the intellectual giant. He sent back word that the only mental athlete that he needed was an office boy who wouldn't run away to base ball games on busy days. I turned on a haughty heel and left the paper to flounder along as best it could.

Then I went to every paper in New York City and Brooklyn, and I even went to Jersey City, offering my services. I quit mentioning that I had a college education and began telling them that I would like to get a plain job and work up. But I couldn't get a job to save me. I had started out thinking that I would accept $100 a week, and after walking 1,222 miles I finally landed a job at $12 a week. Then I began to wonder if I had brains enough to hold it down. I began to wonder when they would find out how incompetent I was and kick me out.

Every Saturday when I got my dozen dollars they were the biggest pieces of money I ever saw. Each night I locked the door, propped a chair under the knob and slept with my pocketbook under my pillow for fear somebody would get in and rob me of my wealth.

It was just ten years ago that C. A. Hawkins and W. A. Blagg signed their names to a piece of paper with the picture of a school house and swans on it carrying ribbons in their mouths, and gave it to me, and still today a silver dollar seems to me to be a load for one man. I often wonder what it would feel like to get a hundred of them together all at one time.

TO SELECT ROADS

HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO MAKE DECISION NEXT WEEK.

MUST BE O.K'D BY STATE

Much Work Will Be Necessary On Roads Chosen to Secure State Aid of $15.00 Per Mile.

The county highway commission will meet next week and select the various county seat roads and also the two roads to the state line. Such was the announcement made by County Highway Engineer John Clary on Friday.

The roads to be selected are as follows:

The Maryville-Albany highway, the Maryville-Savannah road, the Maryville-Oregan road, the Maryville-Rock Port road, and the Maryville-Grant City road. There will also be two roads to the state line.

The final O. K. on these roads will have to come from the state highway engineer, but it is thought that this official will no doubt select the same roads that the county commission will.

There has been much competition on for these roads, and it has resulted in a great deal of road work being done. The roads that are chosen will receive $15 a mile a year for dragging purposes.

There is hardly a road in the county that will come up to the state highway engineer's requirements, and it will be necessary to do a great deal of work on these roads that are selected so they will fulfill the plans as laid out by the engineer.

JOHN HALASAY HURT.

Team Ran Away in Murphy Funeral Procession and Caused a Good Deal of Damage.

While the procession was on its way to St. Patrick's Catholic church Friday morning for the funeral services of William Murphy, the team of John Halasay ran away and caused considerable damage. The team was the last one in the procession, and after it started to run, zizzagged its way through the line of buggies nearly to the head of the procession, when it ran into a ditch and upset a buggy. Mr. Halasay was seriously hurt and was brought to Dr. Wallis' office for attention.

In the run the team made, a back wheel from the buggy of Daniel O'Grady was taken off and Miss Veronica O'Grady was thrown out but not hurt. Then a wheel was taken off the buggy of Ed Gallagher, but Mr. Halasay was the only one injured.

The runaway happened by the Everist farm, three miles west of town and was a frightful sight, as the running horses made their way through the line of buggies. It is a miracle that a dozen people were not killed.

The Big Meaning of Good Roads.

Poor roads beget poor schools, poverty, sickness; good roads beget good schools, prosperity and health. When a people establish good roads in the highest degree, you will find that people, all in all, the most progressive, prosperous and intelligent in the Nation. Let Missouri begin now and lead the way in this cause as it has done much in most every other line of progressive achievement.—From the speech of Governor Major at Palmyra, Mo.

Taking Oil Leases Near Skidmore.

A Mr. Herring, representing a Cleveland, O., oil company, was near Skidmore this week taking leases on land for oil. The company takes a lease from the land owner for five years, on a royalty basis of one-eighth, agreeing to sink wells and make a thorough test for oil within two years at their own expense, and at the end of the two years either surrendering the leases or paying 25 cents per acre for the remaining three years. He has several thousand acres of land leased on this basis.

Mrs. Nic Craig returned to her home in St. Joseph Friday morning, from a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. H. J. Schaub.

has the first training of the child. The education of the womanhood of the country means much. He also thinks that girls should be educated for the home. That is their sphere, and they should not try to do a man's work. Further, he thinks that our present system of education is vicious and imperfect. We need someone who will give us something new. He thinks that the sexes should be separated, and the boys given men teachers. Father Nugent said that he did not mant it thought that he was condemning the school system because he was a Catholic. The Catholic schools are just as bad, and he would not advise sending a child to a convent school as a better place than the public school.

Lastly, he said that he would not tell any man what religion to follow. Every man and woman in the nation should have some religion, however. A country of the wealth of this will not stand without religion. Women, he added, are naturally religious, but the characteristic is checked in many of them through the influence of their husbands. The home is the foundation, and religious sanctuary of the country, and Father Nugent thinks that if a child is given the first seven years of his life in a proper home his future is assured.

THE OJIBWA YINDIANS.

There are ten real, live Ojibway Indians from Canada in this company and they will tent on the grounds during their stay in the city. They are on the program for Saturday afternoon and evening, and at the later entertainment will give the play "Hiawatha."

Camp Notes.

The Hum Drum girls' camp was turned into a nursery Thursday afternoon. The Hum Drums went to the auditorium tent to hear Father Nugent, and there were several babies crying around them so that they could not hear, so they took all six of the precious little darlings who were protesting loudly against attending a lecture on a hot afternoon and cared for them all until evening. It was a new experience for most of the girls, but they faithfully fanned them and swung them in hammocks, played peek-a-boo and bear and did everything they could to make them cool and happy, until the mothers came for them. There are six mothers who are ready to certify any day to the goodness and kindness and loveliness of the Hum Drum girls.

The camp of the Maryville Ladies Military band is a resting place for them and their friends. They have had no midnight spreads and have been out one night only, and that was to attend the amateur night performance by the talent in camp on the grounds for the diversion of the campers. Their guests over Thursday night were Miss Grace Dungy and her visitor, Miss Gladys Yule of Carrollton, and Marcia Roxanne Cutler. A 6 o'clock fried chicken supper was given at this camp Thursday evening by Miss Edith Wilson and Miss Esther Eversole of Kansas City. Their guests were Hosick Holmes and Robert Wells.

There are always a great many visitors at the Conrad-Curfman camp, and as the family relationship is so large that no one can tell just where it begins or ends, and all are attending the Chautauqua at some time or other, a family reunion is on hand nearly all the time. The out-of-town friends at this camp Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humberd and son, and Calvin Pearce of Barnard, and Mrs. D. A. Bugby of Steele City, Neb. The Barnard party came to the Chautauqua in Mr. Pearce's car.

L. BURG BUGGIES

A three-quarter L. Burg Buggy was selected and nine men were invited to ride a quarter of a mile on this ¾ Buggy, namely: 3 in the seat, 1 standing on the dash, 1 on the top, 1 on the boot and 1 one each step. This Buggy was driven around the square at Maryville, Mo., and is in perfect condition. A total weight of 1270 lbs on the springs, axles and wheels, showing the strength of L. Burg Buggies.

Read the Verdict of the these Nine Judges Who Volunteered

We, the Judges, volunteered to pick any Buggy wheel off of any L. Burg Buggy and helped to break this wheel. We pronounce the material to be ABSOLUTELY FIRST CLASS SECOND GROWTH HICKORY AS GOOD AS WE EVER SAW AND AS GOOD AS CAN BE FOUND.

Besides you may ask any one who saw this wheel broken and they will verify the above truth.

We, the nine volunteer Judges, respectfully sign as to the above statement.

REPRIMAND IS GIVEN WILSON

Action of Ambassador is Termed "Impropriety."

NOTE OF REGRET TO ENGLAND

Copy of Cablegram to London Goes to Offending Diplomat—Administration Had Considered Summary Acceptance of Resignation.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Wilson publicly reprimanded Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson for his recent attack on the British foreign office. Ambassador Page was instructed to express to Sir Edward Grey the regret of the American government that a diplomatic official of the United States "should have been guilty of such an impropriety."

The action of the administration here followed the receipt of a cablegram from Ambassador Page officially confirming the press dispatch, which had quoted a statement from the British government that it had recognized the Huerta regime in Mexico along with France and Germany after "a congratulatory speech" to President Huerta by Ambassador Wilson on behalf of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City.

Interpretation of Statement.

The official interpretation of the statement here was that Great Britain at the time believed from Ambassador Wilson's act that the United States intended to recognize the Huerta government. Ambassador Wilson, in an authorized interview, declared that if the statement really emanated from the British foreign office it was "a pure subterfuge, unworthy of the British foreign office and at variance with its traditions and with the character it has maintained before the world for two centuries."

Disclaims Responsibility.

"The interview given to the press by Mr. Henry Lane Wilson, whose resignation as ambassador to Mexico has been accepted to take effect at the end of his vacation, Oct. 14, having been brought to the president's attention, he directs me to ask you to call at the British foreign office and say to Sir Edward Grey that he disclaims all responsibility for Mr. Wilson's action in the matter and for the language employed by him in his interview and that he regrets exceedingly that a diplomatic official in the employ of this government should have been guilty of such an impropriety."

Copy Sent to Ambassadodr.

Secretary Bryan not only gave the above to the press, but issued the following statement:

"A copy of the cablegram to the American embassy was sent to Ambassador Wilson. Mr. Bryan added that the president does not go farther at this time, because he takes it for granted that the action which he is obliged to take in this matter will be to him (Ambassador Wilson) a sufficient reminder of his official duties."

WHEAT PLACED ON FREE LIST

Democratic Amendment Wiping Out Duty Adopted by Senate.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Democratic amendment putting wheat on the free list and striking out the 10-cent per bushel tariff rate, fixed by the house Democrats, was adopted by the senate by a vote of 37 to 32. A subsequent motion by Senator Gronna to fix a duty of 6 cents per bushel on wheat and one-eighth of a cent per pound on wheat flour was defeated, 37 to 31.

An attempt by Senator Simmons, leader of the Democratic tariff forces, to arrange for a vote on the tariff bill in the senate Aug. 25 was blocked by Senator Gallinger, Republican leader.

Interest in Message.

Mexico City, Aug. 15.—Interest in the nature of President Wilson's message to Provisional President Huerta is keyed to a high pitch. Mexicans and Americans alike are indulging in guessing what the communication contains, but another day has gone by without affording satisfaction to their curiosity. Maneuvering for an opening to present President Wilson's message is continuing, but Mr. Lind thus far has been unable to break through the reserve maintained by the Mexican executive.

Clayton to Present Credentials.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama will present his credentials today as successor to the late Joseph E. Johnston as United States senator. Appointed by Governor O'Neal to serve out the term of Senator Johnston, Mr. Clayton will face the unanimous opposition of the leading lawyers of his own party in the senate, who are convinced that Governor O'Neal has not made the appointment in conformity with the seventeenth ammendment to the constitution.

Dakota Village Wiped Out by Cyclone.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 15.—A cyclone struck the village of Douglas, on the line of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway, north of here. The town was practically demolished. Several persons are reported injured.

GUILFORD ITEMS.

Ed Rhodes, a young farmer living in the edge of Andrew county, is suffering with a badly bruised and swollen left hand. Several days ago his hand was struck with a pitchfork handle while threshing. Mr. Rhodes finished his threshing and went to scooping grain. This aggravated the injury to his hand and it is feared that blood poisoning will set in. As it is the hand will have to be lanced.

Mrs. E. Parr is attending the Savannah Chautauqua and visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. A. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnan, who went to Excelsior Springs last spring to make their home, have returned to Guilford. Their plans for the future are not yet determined.

HERE is the car of the hour!

The 1914 Overland is ready for immediate delivery.

Again the price is lowered. Again the value is increased.

This new car is larger, more speedy and powerful, more finely equipped and more elegantly finished, but in spite of this enormous value increase the price has been materially decreased.

The motor has been enlarged to 35 horsepower and will develop 50 miles an hour with ease.

The wheelbase has been lengthened to 114 inches—which is the average wheelbase of $1500 cars.

The 1914 Overland tires are larger; the tonneau is longer and roomier; the equipment is better—including such big and costly additional features as electric lights; the body is handsomer, being finished in beautiful rich dark Brewster green, with heavy nickel and aluminum trimmings.

The 1914 Overland is the most magnificent and graceful popular priced car that has ever been made.

In fact, in every single and individual respect here is a much greater, bigger and better car at a reduced price.

This is only another demonstration of how big production will cut costs. For, instead of building 40,000 cars as in 1913, this year we will build 50,000 cars. This is the World's largest production on this type of car.

One big western dealer is begging the Overland sales department for an allotment of 7,000 cars. Think of this! A single allotment greater than the individual outputs of over 50 per cent of all the automobile factories in existence.

Other dealers and distributors in the big eastern and western agricultural districts want several thousand cars apiece. Such is the initial demand for the newest Overland.

As we have told you in the past: the combined buying power of thousands lowers the cost for each individual. This year 50,000 will be bought. Therefore we can make a greater reduction than ever. Overland quantity production saves money for you—and lots of it. This year it is saving far more than ever before, because in addition to increased production we are building but one chassis.

We urge you to see this new model at once. Feel what a difference the increased wheelbase makes in riding comfort; see the car's changed appearance; examine the beautiful new finish; inspect the many little refinements about the motor—making it resemble the motors in the big $3,000 and $4,000 cars. Examine the tonneau. Enjoy the increased lounging space and the Turkish upholstery.

See us. Have a demonstration. Make the demonstration thorough; test the car's remarkable fuel economy. If you want an early delivery do not delay. Act today.

KANSAS SUN STARTS FIRE IN WHEAT FIELD

Two Stacks Go Ablaze as Rays Deflected by Glass.

Kansas City, Aug. 15.—Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma sweltered under the twelfth day of terrific heat which has paralyzed late crops, caused water famines and been responsible for extreme suffering among the people and the live stock of the three states. Local showers in Kansas failed to affect the general temperature, which again reached an average maximum above 100 degrees. In many places the mercury climbed to 108, and few stations reported temperatures lower than 100. A half-inch rain fell in Topeka, causing the temperature to drop twenty-three degrees in seventeen minutes, but an hour later the mercury climbed up to the maximum of the day. The shower was confined to a territory less than a mile square. People shouted and cheered as the drops began to fall, and many of them deliberately stood for a few minutes in the downpour, as it was the first rain there since July 23.

Notwithstanding the warning of the Kansas state officials that the farmers should not rush their cattle to market, 12,000 cattle were brought to the local market. This was almost three times as many as were brought in a week ago. Stockmen on the western ranges of Kansas find it almost impossible to obtain feed and water for their stock.

Near Oak Hill, Kan., two wheat stacks were burned when the sun's rays, deflected from a piece of glass lying near them, started a fire. A car of slack coal took fire from the heat of the sun at Abilene and was destroyed.

H. E. HUDSON THEODORE G. ROBINSON

DRUGGIST OREAR AT REXALL CONVENTION.

Leading Merchant Gathers New Ideas In Boston.

Mr. Ed G. Orear, proprietor of the Rexall store at Maryville, and one of the most progressive business men in this section, leaves tonight for Boston, where he will attend the Eleventh Annual Rexall Convention of the United Drug Company, an international manufacturing and importing organization in which he is a stockholder. Interviewed by a Democrat-Forum reporter at the busy Rexall store just before his departure, Mr. Orear outlined his plans and gave a vivid description of a new form of practical co-operation which he calls "The Rexall Idea."

Why Rexall Stores Win.

"People ask me," he said, "how I can offer high-grade goods at such low prices; where I get such a lot of new merchandise; and why it is that I have the newest novelties and the latest wrinkles in store service before anyone else. I would be glad to take the credit for these things to myself, but frankly I owe much of my good fortune to the fact that I am a member of the United Drug Company. This Company was started in Boston eleven years ago, by Louis K. Liggett. At that time there was no such thing as co-operation in the retail drug business. It was every man for himself and 'the devil take the hindmost.' Individual druggists manufactured their own remedies, good, bad and indifferent; bought their goods in small lots at high prices, and fought each other tooth and nail. Mr. Liggett saw that if the buying and manufacturing power of the leading druggists could be combined, and a standard policy adopted for all their stores, the result would be increased business and better service for the public.

Rexall Remedies Guaranteed.

"Beginning with forty of the biggest retailers in this country, he formed the United Drug Company and began to manufacture a line of honest household remedies, based on tested formulas, the sale of which was limited to one druggist in each locality. These remedies were made by skilled chemists from the best materials; and to further protect the public, each remedy was sold under a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Furthermore, Rexall Remedies were not patent medicines; their formulas were published in book-form so that before buying a remedy, a customer could see just what it contained.

"If you will remember that up to that time the buyer of household remedies never knew what he was getting or what he would be asked to pay for it, you can understand how the public appreciated the Rexall store plane of doing business. From the very beginning, Rexall Remedies had an enormous sale. New Rexall stores were opened, one in each locality, as fast as possible, considering the fact that before any druggist is allowed to sell United Drug Company products, his financial standing and personal character are rigidly investigated, and that unless he is universally recognized as the leading druggist in his community, he cannot secure the Rexall sales privilege.

"As soon as the public realized what Rexall Remedies were, they began to ask for other goods 'made by the same people that make Rexall.' To meet this demand the United Drug Company entered other fields.

United Drug Company Covers 25 Acres.

"In 1903, the Company's business was confined to one building with 30,000 square feet of floor space. Today, it is operating laboratories, factories, mills, warehouses and branches, throughout the United States, Canada and Great Britain, and requires a total of over 1,000,000 square feet of floor space—or more than 25 acres—for the manufacture of such exclusively Rexall store products as Rexall Remedies, Harmony Perfumes; Liggett's, Fenway and Saturday Candies; Symphony Lawn, Ustaco and Bokhara Stationery; Maximum, Monogram and American Beauty Rubber Products; Klenzo and Marguerite Tooth Brushes; Liggett's Orangeade, Grape Juice and Fruit Syrups, etc., etc.

Rexall Means Low Prices.

"The people welcomed these new goods, just as they had welcomed the first Rexall Remedies, and today, the Rexal store sign is displayed by over 7,000 druggists in the United States, Canada and Great Britain, and everywhere it is accepted as positive evidence that the owners of those stores can be trusted to give a square deal and that anything they sell will be of higher grade, cost less and last longer, than would similar goods, bought elsewhere. This public confidence embraces not only the goods actually manufactured by the United Drug Company, the sale of which Rexall druggists control, but extends to all the merchandise sold by the Rexall store. This is due to the fact that instead of buying in individual small lots Rexall druggists bunch their orders, thus securing from manufacturers and jobbers big price concessions of which they give their customers the benefit. The average druggist who, for instance, buys half a dozen hot water bottles from one manufacturer, cannot hope to secure so low a price as the manufacturer can afford to quote when the United Drug Company places an order to supply hot water bottles to over 7,000 druggists. It is the same with all other merchandise. Everything sold in the Rexall store is bought at a rock bottom price, and can, therefore, be sold at a rock bottom price and still yield the druggist a fair profit.

Rexall Druggists are Importers.

"Another advantage enjoyed by Rexall druggists is the fact that the United Drug Company has agents in all European countries, who are constantly on the watch for new goods and new ideas. When a customer goes into a Rexall store to buy anything in drug store merchandise—I don't care what it is—he has his pick of the best goods from all quarters of the earth. If he wants to buy, say, the finest tooth brush made, he can get it in only two ways: by going to France himself, or by going to the Rexall druggist, who controls the output of the finest tooth brush factories in France. If the purchase is a bottle of violet perfume, made from real Parma violets, a box of breakfast cocoa, made in Holland, a Christmas greeting card, created by an artist in London, the same is true. The customer can get it by going abroad or by trading at the Rexall store.

Annual Meetings Held.

"Of course, with all these advantages, the Rexall store is bound to succeed, provided only that the Rexall druggist himself keeps up-to-date, and makes the most of his opportunities. To insure this, we hold an Annual Convention, in some prominent city, at which we exchange ideas, show each other new goods, tell our experiences and plan new ways of giving the public better service and lower prices. Last year's meeting was held in St. Louis, Missouri, and the meeting I am now going to attend is to be in Boston. It will last four days, Monday, August 18th, to Thursday, August 21st. There will be six business sessions, during which I shall gather new ideas and buy new goods for next season; and in addition to practical matters, I expect to have a mighty good time.

Rexallites From Everywhere.

"You see, the United Drug Company is purely co-operative. Since there is only one Rexall druggist in each locality, we are partners and not competitors. When I get to Boston I will meet and be on friendly terms with druggists whom I have met at other Rexall conventions, and who are coming to this meeting from every state in the Union, from all the provinces of Canada, and from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. During the meetings, and in informal talks between whiles, we will criticize each other's methods, and offer suggestions that will be welcomed, just as you would welcome a hint from a friend of yours.

Good Times in Boston.

"To realize what mighty good fellows these druggists are, you ought to see us when we 'get together,' as we say, for a good time. This year we will have theater parties, motor trips, luncheons, smokers, banquets and a big field day at Nantasket beach. I'll come back home—I know, because I always do—feeling like a new man. And if I don't give the public additional reasons for confidence in the Rexall store, by Gad, I'll cancel my membership in the United Drug company in favor of a better man."—Advertisement.

LOLA NORRIS ON WITNESS STAND

Repeats Warrington Girl's Story of Seduction and Intimidation.

TESTIMONY PRACTICALLY SAME

San Francisco, Aug. 15.—Indication of a belief on the part of at least one juror that the government, for reasons best known to its counsel, is withholding material evidence in the case against Maury I. Diggs, accused of violating the Mann white slave act, found expression when William S. Bliss rose from the jury box to question the court.

"If your honor please," he said, "I would like to ask if there is some evidence that may be material to this case that the government has not put before this court and the jury?"

"I do not understand you," replied Judge Van Fleet. "What do you mean, Mr. Bliss?"

"The defense has referred to statements made by Miss Warrington to an assistant district attorney of Sacramento county upon the train leaving Reno, following the arrest, which are said to be at variance with her testimony in this trial.

"The defense claims that the government has that evidence and the government attorneys have failed to produce it when asked to do so. Are we going to have that evidence? That's what I want to know."

"You have nothing to do with that, Mr. Bliss," said the court, "the jury will take cognizance of nothing in this case except that which comes regularly before it."

Previously Judge Van Fleet had ruled, on an admission from Attorney Roche that he had the statements; that the court was without power to compel them to be produced, but that the government might do so if it wished.

Marsha Concludes Testimony.

Marsha Warrington concluded her testimony and was followed on the witness stand by Lola Norris.

There will be no further examination of Miss Warrington, either by the defense or the government. Attempts to shake her testimony only drew stronger affirmations, and the court cut short the questions as "a minute pursuit of collateral matters."

Like her friend and sorority sister, Lola Norris is an extremely pretty girl. She was dressed in blue, wore some jewelry and carried a silver mesh vanity bag. Her veil did not hide the play of her features.

Miss Norris repeated virtually unchanged, but in even stronger terms, the story of seduction, intimidation and elopement from Sacramento to Reno, on which the government bases its prosecution of Diggs and Caminetti.

The plan of defense Diggs will follow was given out by his counsel in open court.

Marsha Warrington was on the stand, under cross-examination by Nathan Coghlan. He had been questioning her at length about the statement she made to Assistant District Attorney Atkinson, relative to coming back to Sacramento from Reno.

Coghlan Wants to Know.

"Is it not true," pursued Coghlan, "that March 15, 1913, you were charged upon complaint of M. J. Sullivan, probation officer of Sacramento county, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor child named Evelyn Diggs?"

Evelyn Diggs is a daughter of the defendant.

Attorney Roche for the government immediately objected.

"It is our contention," explained Coghlan, "that this witness made certain statements on the train coming back to Sacramento, and that she was later induced to change, color or shade those statements for the purposes of this situation; that she was practically promised immunity in return for this testimony and that she was threatened with arrest, detention and trial if she did not so testify—and I don't mind saying that such is the showing we shall make to the jury."

"Don't argue it now. Wait until you get before the jury," admonished the court. "I may say, however, that it is proper for you to ask if immunity was offered."

"Did you ever talk with your parents about this case?" he asked.

"I never did. I only talked with Mr. Roche."

"And what did he tell you?"

"He told me only to tell the truth."

Evening:

Thursday was another unfortunate day for the Chautauqua in that another of the principal speakers, Congressman James E. Watson, could not fill his place on the program. This again cut down the attendance of one of the big days. The total receipts are, however, in advance of the receipts at this time last year. Watson's place was filled by Dr. Woods, a minister from New Jersey, so that the program was not shortened. The rest of the day's program, the concerts by the Heron sisters and lecture by Rt. Rev. Fr. Nugent, was a success in itself.

Father Nugent's lecture on "The Home, School and Church, the Safeguards of the Nation," was strong enough to have been the day's feature in itself.

Constantly emphasizing the home, with the mother as its nucleus, Father Nugent, in simple, easy flowing English, delivered a lecture that was full of good things from beginning to end, telling of the dangers confronting this country and pointing toward their remedy.

He began by outlining the wonderful progress of the last fifty years, a progress that has eclipsed that of any other period of the world's history and has brought a prosperity to this country that cannot be estimated. This prosperity looms so large before us that we are devoting ourselves to it at the expense of the moral and intellectual welfare of the country, he continued. We cultivate everything but the mind. We do not bring up our children to care for anything but the material things of life. Here Father Nugent pointed out the difference between raising children and bringing up children. He said that we raise cattle, hogs and other live stock by feeding and sheltering them. The bringing up of children adds to their nourishment and shelter the training of the mind. The trouble with too many parents in this country is that they are not bringing up their children, but are simply raising them along with the cattle and hogs.

Passing on to the home life, the speaker said that this was a country of too many beautiful houses and too many poor homes. The cottages of this country are the saving grace of the nation, because there is happiness and a wholesome influence. A man must establish his home early in life, else, in seeing too much of the sordid outside world, he will become skeptical and afraid to build a home.

The mothers are the architects of the home, he continued. Womanhood is the coast defense of this nation. The mothers of our country are its gold reserve. They are to its life as the gold reserve at Washington is to the bonds and bank notes of the country. It is through the mother's teaching that the child can be saved from the materialistic view of life.

In regard to education, Father Nugent said that he thought the education of our girls was more important than that of the boys, for the mother

ONLY ONE NEW DIRECTOR.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Nodaway Chautauqua was held at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the big tent, and aside from a general discussion of plans for next year, three directors were elected to fill the places of the retiring directors. Judge W. C. Ellison, Prof. W. M. Oakerson and Nathaniel Sisson. Mr. Ellison and Mr. Oakerson were re-elected, and George Moore was elected to fill Mr. Sisson's place.

The discussion of plans for next year's Chautauqua was not in any way a final action. It was merely suggestive of how a still better program can be arranged, and took up the question of whether to continue hiring talent independently with an effort to get some men like Joe Cannon, Pinchot and LaFollette, or whether to buy a program from some bureau.

Manager P. O. Landon tendered his resignation as manager and stockholder in the Chautauqua to be acted on at the first meeting of the board of directors. Mr. Landon said that in view of the fact that he had given so much of his time to the Chautauqua in the last few years and considering some plans for the future, he could under no consideration be connected with it next year. He also asked that an auditing committee be appointed to go over his books as soon as possible and make a public statement of the accounts, that the people in general might see where the expenses of a Chautauqua are. He estimates the cost of this year's Chautauqua close to $4,500.

A meeting of the board of directors was called for Tuesday night, August 19, in the office of Prof. Oakerson in the court house. At that meeting these various questions will be taken up, and the work of making out a program will begin as soon as possible that the best of talent may be obtained.

SPEAKS HIGHLY OF THE NORMAL.

The Harrison county students who have been attending the summer term of the Normal school here are speaking highly of the institution and of the Normal faculty and President Richardson. The following is what these students had to say in this week's Bethany Clipper:

Fearing that the people of Harrison county do not realize what a great school they have at Maryville, Mo., we teachers of Harrison county, who have been attending the Northwest Normal this summer, wish to thank the people of Harrison county for supporting such an institution, which makes it possible for all teachers who need training to have a school of their own near their own home to do this work.

We teachers realize that we are improving an opportunity which many of the Harrison county teachers are not taking advantage of, and we think if they had met President Richardson and his excellent faculty and was acquainted with the work they are doing, they would certainly become a member of the Harrison county delegation at the Northwest Normal in the near future.

The enrollment this summer was 515, and as a body of teachers we think, considering the age of our Normal, it ranks as one of the best in the state.

We have succeeded in building up a strong county organization, which, by their efforts, have let the people of Maryville and of other counties know that Harrison county is on the map. Now it is hoped that this enthusiasm will be carried into our county teachers' association this fall, and by our efforts all teachers of Harrison county will attend school at the Northwest Normal at Maryville.

Free Ice Water and Drinking Cups.

People who have experienced the inconvenience occasioned by neglect of railroad companies to provide drinking cups in station waiting rooms will be interested in Senator Wilson's bill, which was enacted into a law by the recent legislature. The fact that heretofore there had been no law on this subject led to widespread neglect in this matter with resulting inconvenience to the travelers, especially during months when the weather was warm.

A NARROW ESCAPE

MR. AND MRS. S. H. KEMP JUMPED FROM CAR IN TIME.

AUTOMOBILE A WRECK

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Kemp jumped from their motor car this morning just in time to escape being struck and possibly killed by a freight train at the Seventh street crossing of the Wabash freight yards. The car was hit squarely in the center as the train backed against it and pushed it 100 feet or more, broken and twisted to pieces.

Mr. Kemp was taking Mrs. Kemp to the Chautauqua to attend the morning lecture by Mrs. Jones. As they approached the railroad crossing Mr. Kemp noticed a long line of freight cars on the track north of the crossing, but he saw no engine, and thought that the cars were standing there alone. The motor car was on the short abrupt grade leading to the crossing when Mrs. Kemp saw that the freight cars were moving toward them and were not more than forty feet away. She called to her husband and jumped from the car. He was in the act of changing gears, but seeing that he could not get the car across the tracks in time to escape being struck by the train, he jumped to save himself. The brakeman did not see the car until too late to have the train stopped. Consequently the car was hit and pushed 100 feet along the track before the train was stopped.

The car is a total wreck. Mr. Kemp had it insured, but he does not know whether his policy covers such an accident.

TWO CENTS ON MAPLE LEAF.

Great Western Official Told Guilford Men the Railroad Would Adopt the New Rate.

L. L. Joden, division freight agent of the Chicago, Great Western railroad, stationed at Des Moines, was in Guilford Wednesday. While there he told the agent and business men of the town that his company was planning to put in the 2-cent passenger rate at an early date. Up to the present time the Chicago Great Western road has been charging the old rate, for under the law it is exempt from the 2-cent rate, because it has less than 100 miles of its own trackage in the state. The company is adopting the new rate to meet the competition of the other roads.

DAM ACROSS OLD CHANNEL.

A meeting of the drainage board of the Nodaway drainage ditch was held at the Walker farm, near Burlington Junction this week, and it was decided to go ahead with the damming of the old channel of the Nodaway river. Ten men were put to work on the dam at the north end of the Walker farm and the structure is nearly completed. The dam was built with dirt and brush and the structure is held securely to the bed of the river by long stakes. Heavy sacks of sand are also being used to reinforce the dam. Another dam will be built near the Blackford farm, near Clearmont.

The damming of the old channel is so as to turn the water in the new drainage ditch.

ROAD BONDS CARRY WITH MANY VOTES TO SPARE.

TO ISSUE ONLY A PART

Bonds Will Be Sold Through County Court and Work Will Be Started as Soon as Possible.

The good roads bond issue of $50,000 for Polk township carried at a special election held Thursday by 45 votes over the necessary two-thirds majority, and it was the second election held on this proposition. The vote for the issue was 921 for to 394 against, making a total vote of 1,315, which is a big vote at a special election. The vote at the last good roads election, held in December was, 959, 615 being for the issue and 344 against the issue. The proposition failed to carry at the first election.

The vote by precincts showed that the biggest vote for the proposition was in the Third ward or precinct B. In the Second ward, precinct C, and First ward, precinct D, the proposition also carried. The Fourth ward, or precinct A, lacked only two votes of having enough. The vote by precincts follows:

	For.	Against
Precinct A	282	144
Precinct B	233	63
Precinct C	195	85
Precinct D	211	102
Total	921	394

The township board is going to start work as soon as possible. They will sell the bonds through the county court and only a part of the bonds will be issued.

At the election Thursday a delegation from Union township, headed by C. G. McMillen, came to Maryville to stir up enthusiasm for the proposition. There were eight automobiles in the party. Union was the first township in the county to bond itself for good roads and she wanted to see her sister township, Polk, do likewise.

Much of the credit for the success of the bond issue carrying is the active work done by the Maryville Commercial club. The committee of that club in charge of the campaign was composed of Will F. Phares, Fred P. Robinson, J. F. Hull and Mayor Arthur S. Robey.

THEY ARE TO WORK ON ROADS.

Ravenwood and Jackson Township Changed the Good Roads Days to September 2 and 3.

On account of there being a number of threshing machines around Ravenwood, it was thought best to make the good roads days in Jackson township September 2 and 3, as at that time more could get out to work on the roads than on August 20 and 21, the dates selected by Governor Major and the county court of Nodaway county.

The Business Men's league of Ravenwood and the township board of Jackson township are making the arrangements for these days and all of the work to be done on the roads will be under the supervision of the board and road overseers. Up to this time thirty-five men in Ravenwood have promised to work on the roads.

A mass road meeting will be held on Tuesday, August 26, when more arrangements will be made for the good roads days.

SCHOOL DAYS

The day I graduated from the Maryville high school there were very, very many things in this hustling world of ours that I didn't know. When I was handed my diploma I wondered how this world had got along so well without me up to the present time, and told myself that from now on civilization would make great strides. I felt that it was unfortunate that I wasn't born during the revolution when this country was in such great need of leaders. I wondered what should become of the United States if something should happen if I should be run down in the street, or be hurt in a sudden accident. On the day I was graduated from high school I felt that I owed it to the great commonwealth of Missouri to take good care of myself so that Missouri could fast forge to the front.

Graduation night I delivered an oration in the Christian church that I confidently expected to go ringing down through the corridors of time. The next morning when I came downtown I expected to see groups of citizens on the corners discussing the oration and eagerly pointing to its author as I nonchalantly sauntered across the street. I wondered how long it would be before a popular subscription would be taken up by the citizens of Nodaway county to cast my deathless words in bronze and just where they would erect the statue to the brilliant young orator—the same being me—who had sent these words echoing down through the periods of the future.

However, the next morning when I came downtown things were quite different from what I had expected. It seemed that most of the citizens had heard the first paragraph of my immortal oration, but for some unaccountable reason had gone to sleep before I had launched into the deathless second paragraph. The same sleepiness had not only fastened upon one citizen, but the whole audience seemed to have been stricken by it. On questioning I found that the only people in the whole audience who had been thrilled through time and time again were my immediate relatives.

In a few short days my graduation masterpiece had died a justly deserved death.

From that day my knowledge has been going steadily backward. Each day I find out that I know just a little less than I thought I did. I don't know as much now as I did this time last year, and I know that my ignorance today is appalling in comparison to my knowledge two years ago today. In a few years more, if this cerebral shrinking process keeps up, I won't know enough to come in out of the proverbial precipitation.

When I got through the University at Columbia, Mo., I thought I would look around till I found some overworked editor of a New York newspaper and step into his shoes and make the paper howl. I looked around to find a newspaper that I should honor by accepting a place on it. When I was in the university I had figured that when I graduated I would start in at $100 a week and from that gradually work up until I was making a fair salary.

So I went into a newspaper office in New York to tell them that I had arrived and look over their line of jobs. My plan worked fine—until I got to the front door. There I found an office boy in uniform who would not let me into the office. I sent in word to the city editor telling him that an intellectual giant was waiting outside to converse with him, but the city editor did not have any hankering to meet the intellectual giant. He sent back word that the only mental athlete that he needed was an office boy who wouldn't run away to base ball games on busy days. I turned on a haughty heel and left the paper to flounder along as best it could.

Then I went to every paper in New York City and Brooklyn, and I even went to Jersey City, offering my services. I quit mentioning that I had a college education and began telling them that I would like to get a plain job and work up. But I couldn't get a job to save me. I had started out thinking that I would accept $100 a week, and after walking 1,222 miles I finally landed a job at $12 a week. Then I began to wonder if I had brains enough to hold it down. I began to wonder when they would find out how incompetent I was and kick me out.

Every Saturday when I got my dozen dollars they were the biggest pieces of money I ever saw. Each night I locked the door, propped a chair under the knob and slept with my pocketbook under my pillow for fear somebody would get in and rob me of my wealth.

It was just ten years ago that C. A. Hawkins and W. A. Flagg signed their names to a piece of paper with the picture of a school house and swans on it carrying ribbons in their mouths, and gave it to me, and still today a silver dollar seems to me to be a load for one man. I often wonder what it would feel like to get a hundred of them together all at one time.

TO SELECT ROADS

HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO MAKE DECISION NEXT WEEK.

MUST BE O.K'D BY STATE

Much Work Will Be Necessary On Roads Chosen to Secure State Aid of $15.00 Per Mile.

The county highway commission will meet next week and select the various county seat roads and also the two roads to the state line. Such was the announcement made by County Highway Engineer John Clary on Friday.

The roads to be selected are as follows:

The Maryville-Albany highway, the Maryville-Savannah road, the Maryville-Oregan road, the Maryville-Rock Port road, and the Maryville-Grant City road. There will also be two roads to the state line.

The final O. K. on these roads will have to come from the state highway engineer, but it is thought that this official will no doubt select the same roads that the county commission will.

There has been much competition on for these roads, and it has resulted in a great deal of road work being done. The roads that are chosen will receive $15 a mile a year for dragging purposes.

There is hardly a road in the county that will come up to the state highway engineer's requirements, and it will be necessary to do a great deal of work on these roads that are selected so they will fulfill the plans as laid out by the engineer.

JOHN HALASAY HURT.

Team Ran Away in Murphy Funeral Procession and Caused a Good Deal of Damage.

While the procession was on its way to St. Patrick's Catholic church Friday morning for the funeral services of William Murphy, the team of John Halasay ran away and caused considerable damage. The team was the last one in the procession, and after it started to run, zizzagged its way through the line of buggies nearly to the head of the procession, when it ran into a ditch and upset a buggy. Mr. Halasay was seriously hurt and was brought to Dr. Wallis' office for attention.

In the run the team made, a back wheel from the buggy of Daniel O'Grady was taken off and Miss Veronica O'Grady was thrown out but not hurt. Then a wheel was taken off the buggy of Ed Gallagher, but Mr. Halasay was the only one injured.

The runaway happened by the Everist farm, three miles west of town and was a frightful sight, as the running horses made their way through the line of buggies. It is a miracle that a dozen people were not killed.

Illinois Visitors Leave.

The Big Meaning of Good Roads.

Poor roads beget poor schools, poverty, sickness; good roads beget good schools, prosperity and health. When a people establish good roads in the highest degree, you will find that people, all in all, the most progressive, prosperous and intelligent in the Nation. Let Missouri begin now and lead the way in this cause as it has done much in most every other line of progressive achievement.—From the speech of Governor Major at Palmyra, Mo.

Taking Oil Leases Near Skidmore.

A Mr. Herring, representing a Cleveland, O., oil company, was near Skidmore this week taking leases on land for oil. The company takes a lease from the land owner for five years, on a royalty basis of one-eighth, agreeing to sink wells and make a thorough test for oil within two years at their own expense, and at the end of the two years either surrendering the leases or paying 25 cents per acre for the remaining three years. He has several thousand acres of land leased on this basis.

Mrs. Nic Craig returned to her home in St. Joseph Friday morning, from a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. H. J. Schaub.

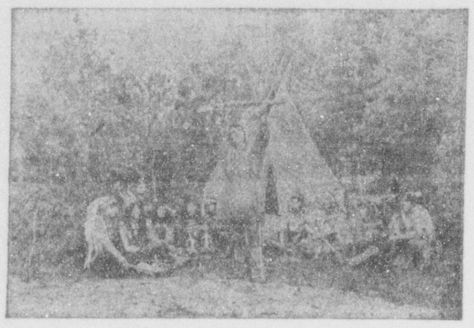
has the first training of the child. The education of the womanhood of the country means much. He also thinks that girls should be educated for the home. That is their sphere, and they should not try to do a man's work. Further, he thinks that our present system of education is vicious and imperfect. We need someone who will give us something new. He thinks that the sexes should be separated, and the boys given men teachers. Father Nugent said that he did not mant it thought that he was condemning the school system because he was a Catholic. The Catholic schools are just as bad, and he would not advise sending a child to a convent school as a better place than the public school.

Lastly, he said that he would not tell any man what religion to follow. Every man and woman in the nation should have some religion, however. A country of the wealth of this will not stand without religion. Women, he added, are naturally religious, but the characteristic is checked in many of them through the influence of their husbands. The home is the foundation, and religious sanctuary of the country, and Father Nugent thinks that if a child is given the first seven years of his life in a proper home his future is assured.



THE OJIBWA YINDIANS.

There are ten real, live Ojibway Indians from Canada in this company and they will tent on the grounds during their stay in the city. They are on the program for Saturday afternoon and evening, and at the later entertainment will give the play "Hiawatha."

Camp Notes.

The Hum Drum girls' camp was turned into a nursery Thursday afternoon. The Hum Drums went to the auditorium tent to hear Father Nugent, and there were several babies crying around them so that they could not hear, so they took all six of the precious little darlings who were protesting loudly against attending a lecture on a hot afternoon and cared for them all until evening. It was a new experience for most of the girls, but they faithfully fanned them and swung them in hammocks, played peek-a-boo and bear and did everything they could to make them cool and happy, until the mothers came for them. There are six mothers who are ready to certify any day to the goodness and kindness and loveliness of the Hum Drum girls.

REPRIMAND IS GIVEN WILSON

NOTE OF REGRET TO ENGLAND

Copy of Cablegram to London Goes to Offending Diplomat—Administration Had Considered Summary Acceptance of Resignation.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Wilson publicly reprimanded Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson for his recent attack on the British foreign office. Ambassador Page was instructed to express to Sir Edward Grey the regret of the American government that a diplomatic official of the United States "should have been guilty of such an impropriety."

The action of the administration here followed the receipt of a cablegram from Ambassador Page officially confirming the press dispatch, which had quoted a statement from the British government that it had recognized the Huerta regime in Mexico along with France and Germany after "a congratulatory speech" to President Huerta by Ambassador Wilson on behalf of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City.

Interpretation of Statement.

The official interpretation of the statement here was that Great Britain at the time believed from Ambassador Wilson's act that the United States intended to recognize the Huerta government. Ambassador Wilson, in an authorized interview, declared that if the statement really emanated from the British foreign office it was "a pure subterfuge, unworthy of the British foreign office and at variance with its traditions and with the character it has maintained before the world for two centuries."

Disclaims Responsibility.

"The interview given to the press by Mr. Henry Lane Wilson, whose resignation as ambassador to Mexico has been accepted to take effect at the end of his vacation, Oct. 14, having been brought to the president's attention, he directs me to ask you to call at the British foreign office and say to Sir Edward Grey that he disclaims all responsibility for Mr. Wilson's action in the matter and for the language employed by him in his interview and that he regrets exceedingly that a diplomatic official in the employ of this government should have been guilty of such an impropriety."

Copy Sent to Ambassadodr.

Secretary Bryan not only gave the above to the press, but issued the following statement:

"A copy of the cablegram to the American embassy was sent to Ambassador Wilson. Mr. Bryan added that the president does not go farther at this time, because he takes it for granted that the action which he is obliged to take in this matter will be to him (Ambassador Wilson) a sufficient reminder of his official duties."

WHEAT PLACED ON FREE LIST

Democratic Amendment Wiping Out Duty Adopted by Senate.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Democratic amendment putting wheat on the free list and striking out the 10-cent per bushel tariff rate, fixed by the house Democrats, was adopted by the senate by a vote of 37 to 32. A subsequent motion by Senator Gronna to fix a duty of 6 cents per bushel on wheat and one-eighth of a cent per pound on wheat flour was defeated, 37 to 31.

An attempt by Senator Simmons, leader of the Democratic tariff forces, to arrange for a vote on the tariff bill in the senate Aug. 25 was blocked by Senator Gallinger Republican leader.

Interest in Message.

Mexico City, Aug. 15.—Interest in the nature of President Wilson's message to Provisional President Huerta is keyed to a high pitch. Mexicans and Americans alike are indulging in guessing what the communication contains, but another day has gone by without affording satisfaction to their curiosity. Maneuvering for an opening to present President Wilson's message is continuing, but Mr. Lind thus far has been unable to break through the reserve maintained by the Mexican executive.

Clayton to Present Credentials.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama will present his credentials today as successor to the late Joseph E. Johnston as United States senator. Appointed by Governor O'Neal to serve out the term of Senator Johnston, Mr. Clayton will face the unanimous opposition of the leading lawyers of his own party in the senate, who are convinced that Governor O'Neal has not made the appointment in conformity with the seventeenth ammendment to the constitution.

Dakota Village Wiped Out by Cyclone.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 15.—A cyclone struck the village of Douglas, on the line of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway, north of here. The town was practically demolished. Several persons are reported injured.

GUILFORD ITEMS.

Ed Rhodes, a young farmer living in the edge of Andrew county, is suffering with a badly bruised and swollen left hand. Several days ago his hand was struck with a pitchfork handle while threshing. Mr. Rhodes finished his threshing and went to scooping grain. This aggravated the injury to his hand and it is feared that blood poisoning will set in. As it is the hand will have to be lanced.

Mrs. E. Parr is attending the Savannah Chautauqua and visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. A. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnan, who went to Excelsior Springs last spring to make their home, have returned to Guilford. Their plans for the future are not yet determined.

HERE is the car of the hour!

Again the price is lowered. Again the value is increased.

This new car is larger, more speedy and powerful, more finely equipped and more elegantly finished, but in spite of this enormous value increase the price has been materially decreased.

The motor has been enlarged to 35 horsepower and will develop 50 miles an hour with ease.

The wheelbase has been lengthened to 114 inches—which is the average wheelbase of $1500 cars.

The 1914 Overland tires are larger; the tonneau is longer and roomier; the equipment is better—including such big and costly additional features as electric lights; the body is handsomer, being finished in beautiful rich dark Brewster green, with heavy nickel and aluminum trimmings.

The 1914 Overland is the most magnificent and graceful popular priced car that has ever been made.

In fact, in every single and individual respect here is a much greater, bigger and better car at a reduced price.

This is only another demonstration of how big production will cut costs. For, instead of building 40,000 cars as in 1913, this year we will build 50,000 cars. This is the World's largest production on this type of car.

One big western dealer is begging the Overland sales department for an allotment of 7,000 cars. Think of this! A single allotment greater than the individual outputs of over 50 per cent of all the automobile factories in existence.

Other dealers and distributors in the big eastern and western agricultural districts want several thousand cars apiece. Such is the initial demand for the newest Overland.

As we have told you in the past: the combined buying power of thousands lowers the cost for each individual. This year 50,000 will be bought. Therefore we can make a greater reduction than ever. Overland quantity production saves money for you—and lots of it. This year it is saving far more than ever before, because in addition to increased production we are building but one chassis.

We urge you to see this new model at once. Feel what a difference the increased wheelbase makes in riding comfort; see the car's changed appearance; examine the beautiful new finish; inspect the many little refinements about the motor—making it resemble the motors in the big $3,000 and $4,000 cars. Examine the tonneau. Enjoy the increased lounging space and the Turkish upholstery.

See us. Have a demonstration. Make the demonstration thorough; test the car's remarkable fuel economy. If you want an early delivery do not delay. Act today.

The EMPIRE of Course

LOLA NORRIS ON WITNESS STAND

Repeats Warrington Girl's Story of Seduction and Intimidation.

TESTIMONY PRACTICALLY SAME

San Francisco, Aug. 15.—Indication of a belief on the part of at least one juror that the government, for reasons best known to its counsel, is withholding material evidence in the case against Maury I. Diggs, accused of violating the Mann white slave act, found expression when William S. Bliss rose from the jury box to question the court.

"If your honor please," he said, "I would like to ask if there is some evidence that may be material to this case that the government has not put before this court and the jury?"

"I do not understand you," replied Judge Van Fleet. "What do you mean, Mr. Bliss?"

"The defense has referred to statements made by Miss Warrington to an assistant district attorney of Sacramento county upon the train leaving Reno, following the arrest, which are said to be at variance with her testimony in this trial.

"The defense claims that the government has that evidence and the government attorneys have failed to produce it when asked to do so. Are we going to have that evidence? That's what I want to know."

"You have nothing to do with that, Mr. Bliss," said the court, "the jury will take cognizance of nothing in this case except that which comes regularly before it."

Previously Judge Van Fleet had ruled, on an admission from Attorney Roche, that he had the statements; that the court was without power to compel them to be produced, but that the government might do so if it wished.

Marsha Concludes Testimony.

Marsha Warrington concluded her testimony and was followed on the witness stand by Lola Norris.

There will be no further examination of Miss Warrington, either by the defense or the government. Attempts to shake her testimony only drew stronger affirmations, and the court cut short the questions as "a minute pursuit of collateral matters."

Like her friend and sorority sister, Lola Norris is an extremely pretty girl. She was dressed in blue, wore some jewelry and carried a silver mesh vanity bag. Her veil did not hide the play of her features.

Miss Norris repeated virtually unchanged, but in even stronger terms, the story of seduction, intimidation and elopement from Sacramento to Reno, on which the government bases its prosecution of Diggs and Caminetti.

The plan of defense Diggs will follow was given out by his counsel in open court.

Marsha Warrington was on the stand, under cross-examination by Nathan Coghlan. He had been questioning her at length about the statement she made to Assistant District Attorney Atkinson, relative to coming back to Sacramento from Reno.

Coghlan Wants to Know.

"Is it not true," pursued Coghlan, "that March 15, 1913, you were charged upon complaint of M. J. Sullivan, probation officer of Sacramento county, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor child named Evelyn Diggs?"

Evelyn Diggs is a daughter of the defendant.

Attorney Roche for the government immediately objected.

"It is our contention," explained Coghlan, "that this witness made certain statements on the train coming back to Sacramento, and that she was later induced to change, color or shade those statements for the purposes of this situation; that she was practically promised immunity in return for this testimony and that she was threatened with arrest, detention and trial if she did not so testify—and I don't mind saying that such is the showing we shall make to the jury."

"Don't argue it now. Wait until you get before the jury," admonished the court. "I may say, however, that it is proper for you to ask if immunity was offered."

"Did you ever talk with your parents about this case?" he asked.

"I never did. I only talked with Mr. Roche."

"And what did he tell you?"

"He told me only to tell the truth."

KANSAS SUN STARTS FIRE IN WHEAT FIELD

Two Stacks Go Ablaze as Rays Deflected by Glass.

Kansas City, Aug. 15.—Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma sweltered under the twelfth day of terrific heat which has paralyzed late crops, caused water famines and been responsible for extreme suffering among the people and the live stock of the three states. Local showers in Kansas failed to affect the general temperature, which again reached an average maximum above 100 degrees. In many places the mercury climbed to 108, and few stations reported temperatures lower than 100. A half-inch rain fell in Topeka, causing the temperature to drop twenty-three degrees in seventeen minutes, but an hour later the mercury climbed up to the maximum of the day. The shower was confined to a territory less than a mile square. People shouted and cheered as the drops began to fall, and many of them deliberately stood for a few minutes in the downpour, as it was the first rain there since July 23.

Notwithstanding the warning of the Kansas state officials that the farmers should not rush their cattle to market, 12,000 cattle were brought to the local market. This was almost three times as many as were brought in a week ago. Stockmen on the western ranges of Kansas find it almost impossible to obtain feed and water for their stock.

Near Oak Hill, Kan., two wheat stacks were burned when the sun's rays, deflected from a piece of glass lying near them, started a fire. A car of slack coal took fire from the heat of the sun at Abilene and was destroyed.

DRUGGIST OREAR AT REXALL CONVENTION.

Leading Merchant Gathers New Ideas In Boston.

Mr. Ed G. Orear, proprietor of the Rexall store at Maryville, and one of the most progressive business men in this section, leaves tonight for Boston, where he will attend the Eleventh Annual Rexall Convention of the United Drug Company, an international manufacturing and importing organization in which he is a stockholder. Interviewed by a Democrat-Forum reporter at the busy Rexall store just before his departure, Mr. Orear outlined his plans and gave a vivid description of a new form of practical co-operation which he calls "The Rexall Idea."

Why Rexall Stores Win.

"People ask me," he said, "how I can offer high-grade goods at such low prices; where I get such a lot of new merchandise; and why it is that I have the newest novelties and the latest wrinkles in store service before anyone else. I would be glad to take the credit for these things to myself, but frankly I owe much of my good fortune to the fact that I am a member of the United Drug Company. This Company was started in Boston eleven years ago, by Louis K. Liggett. At that time there was no such thing as co-operation in the retail drug business. It was every man for himself and 'the devil take the hindmost.' Individual druggists manufactured their own remedies, good, bad and indifferent; bought their goods in small lots at high prices, and fought each other tooth and nail. Mr. Liggett saw that if the buying and manufacturing power of the leading druggists could be combined, and a standard policy adopted for all their stores, the result would be increased business and better service for the public.

Rexall Remedies Guaranteed.

"Beginning with forty of the biggest retailers in this country, he formed the United Drug Company and began to manufacture a line of honest household remedies, based on tested formulas, the sale of which was limited to one druggist in each locality. These remedies were made by skilled chemists from the best materials; and to further protect the public, each remedy was sold under a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Furthermore, Rexall Remedies were not patent medicines; their formulas were published in book-form so that before buying a remedy, a customer could see just what it contained.

"If you will remember that up to that time the buyer of household remedies never knew what he was getting or what he would be asked to pay for it, you can understand how the public appreciated the Rexall store plane of doing business. From the very beginning, Rexall Remedies had an enormous sale. New Rexall stores were opened, one in each locality, as fast as possible, considering the fact that before any druggist is allowed to sell United Drug Company products, his financial standing and personal character are rigidly investigated, and that unless he is universally recognized as the leading druggist in his community, he cannot secure the Rexall sales privilege.

"As soon as the public realized what Rexall Remedies were, they began to ask for other goods 'made by the same people that make Rexall.' To meet this demand the United Drug Company entered other fields.

United Drug Company Covers 25 Acres.

"In 1903, the Company's business was confined to one building with 30,000 square feet of floor space. Today, it is operating laboratories, factories, mills, warehouses and branches, throughout the United States, Canada and Great Britain, and requires a total of over 1,000,000 square feet of floor space—or more than 25 acres—for the manufacture of such exclusively Rexall store products as Rexall Remedies, Harmony Perfumes; Liggett's, Fenway and Saturday Candies; Symphony Lawn, Ustaco and Bokhara Stationery; Maximum, Monogram and American Beauty Rubber Products; Klenzo and Marguerite Tooth Brushes; Liggett's Orangeade, Grape Juice and Fruit Syrups, etc., etc.

Rexall Means Low Prices.

"The people welcomed these new goods, just as they had welcomed the first Rexall Remedies, and today, the Rexal store sign is displayed by over 7,000 druggists in the United States, Canada and Great Britain, and everywhere it is accepted as positive evidence that the owners of those stores can be trusted to give a square deal and that anything they sell will be of higher grade, cost less and last longer, than would similar goods, bought elsewhere. This public confidence embraces not only the goods actually manufactured by the United Drug Company, the sale of which Rexall druggists control, but extends to all the merchandise sold by the Rexall store. This is due to the fact that instead of buying in individual small lots Rexall druggists bunch their orders, thus securing from manufacturers and jobbers big price concessions of which they give their customers the benefit. The average druggist who, for instance, buys half a dozen hot water bottles from one manufacturer, cannot hope to secure so low a price as the manufacturer can afford to quote when the United Drug Company places an order to supply hot water bottles to over 7,000 druggists. It is the same with all other merchandise. Everything sold in the Rexall store is bought at a rock bottom price, and can, therefore, be sold at a rock bottom price and still yield the druggist a fair profit.

Rexall Druggists are Importers.

"Another advantage enjoyed by Rexall druggists is the fact that the United Drug Company has agents in all European countries, who are constantly on the watch for new goods and new ideas. When a customer goes into a Rexall store to buy anything in drug store merchandise—I don't care what it is—he has his pick of the best goods from all quarters of the earth. If he wants to buy, say, the finest tooth brush made, he can get it in only two ways: by going to France himself, or by going to the Rexall druggist, who controls the output of the finest tooth brush factories in France. If the purchase is a bottle of violet perfume, made from real Parma violets, a box of breakfast cocoa, made in Holland, a Christmas greeting card, created by an artist in London, the same is true. The customer can get it by going abroad or by trading at the Rexall store.

Annual Meetings Held.

"Of course, with all these advantages, the Rexall store is bound to succeed, provided only that the Rexall druggist himself keeps up-to-date, and makes the most of his opportunities. To insure this, we hold an Annual Convention, in some prominent city, at which we exchange ideas, show each other new goods, tell our experiences and plan new ways of giving the public better service and lower prices. Last year's meeting was held in St. Louis, Missouri, and the meeting I am now going to attend is to be in Boston. It will last four days, Monday, August 18th, to Thursday, August 21st. There will be six business sessions, during which I shall gather new ideas and buy new goods for next season; and in addition to practical matters, I expect to have a mighty good time.

Rexallites From Everywhere.

"You see, the United Drug Company is purely co-operative. Since there is only one Rexall druggist in each locality, we are partners and not competitors. When I get to Boston I will meet and be on friendly terms with druggists whom I have met at other Rexall conventions, and who are coming to this meeting from every state in the Union, from all the provinces of Canada, and from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. During the meetings, and in informal talks between whiles, we will criticize each other's methods, and offer suggestions that will be welcomed, just as you would welcome a hint from a friend of yours.

Good Times in Boston.

"To realize what mighty good fellows these druggists are, you ought to see us when we 'get together,' as we say, for a good time. This year we will have theater parties, motor trips, luncheons, smokers, banquets and a big field day at Nantasket beach. I'll come back home—I know, because I always do—feeling like a new man. And if I don't give the public additional reasons for confidence in the Rexall store, by Gad, I'll cancel my membership in the United Drug company in favor of a better man."—Advertisement.
